📈 U.S. Futures Jump as Trump Pauses Hormuz Operation, AI Stocks Rally

U.S. stock futures are moving higher Wednesday morning after President Donald Trump paused efforts to forcibly reopen the Strait of Hormuz and hinted that progress toward a peace deal with Iran may be developing.

- Dow futures: +79 pts (+0.2%)
- S&P 500 futures: +20 pts (+0.3%)
- Nasdaq futures: +186 pts (+0.7%)

The move comes as easing geopolitical fears and strong AI-driven earnings continue to support broader market sentiment.

🌍 Trump pauses "Project Freedom"

Markets reacted positively after Trump announced a temporary pause to "Project Freedom," the U.S. operation aimed at reopening the Strait of Hormuz through military escort efforts.

The decision follows renewed attacks earlier this week and appears tied to growing diplomatic pressure and possible progress toward negotiations.

Trump stated that "great progress" had been made toward a potential peace agreement with Iran.

👉 Key takeaway:

- Geopolitical pressure easing slightly
- Markets viewing this as de-escalation
- Risk appetite improving

🛢️ Oil pulls back, but stays elevated

Oil prices dropped following Trump's announcement:

- Brent crude: ~$108 (-1.5%)

Despite the pullback, crude remains far above pre-war levels due to continued disruptions around the Strait of Hormuz.

👉 Impact still remains:

- Inflation concerns elevated
- Global growth risks still present

⚠️ Breakdown: what's driving the market now?

- Reduced geopolitical escalation
- Falling oil prices
- Strong AI-related earnings
- Tech leading the rebound

👉 Market = risk-on bounce

🤖 AMD earnings fuel AI optimism

- Advanced Micro Devices: surged after strong earnings driven by AI demand

Key highlights:

- Revenue: +38% YoY
- Data center sales: +57%
- EPS beat expectations
- Strong demand for AI processors

CEO Lisa Su said server growth is expected to accelerate further as AI demand remains strong.

👉 AI spending boom still intact

💻 AI trade remains center stage

Despite recent concerns around OpenAI and AI spending sustainability, strong results from chipmakers are helping restore confidence in the sector.

Analysts continue to watch how AMD competes against:

- Nvidia
- Broadcom

📱 Samsung crosses $1 trillion valuation

- Samsung Electronics: surpassed a $1 trillion market value for the first time

The rally has been fueled by:

- AI memory chip demand
- Tight supply conditions
- Potential processor partnership discussions with
    - Apple
    - Intel

👀 What traders are watching today

- Any further U.S.–Iran developments
- Oil price movement
- Follow-through in AI chip stocks
