

PM Planning with Adam (01/20/2026)

News for Today

- ADP Employment Change Weekly Actual (8.00K) Previous (11.25K) (8:15AM)
- 3-Month Bill Auction Previous (3.570%) (11:30AM)
- 6-Month Bill Auction Previous (3.490%) (11:30AM)
- 52-Week Bill Auction Previous (3.380%) (11:30AM)
- Netflix ($NFLX) +1%: Ticked higher ahead of tonight's earnings and after submitting an amended all-cash offer for Warner Bros Discovery's studio and streaming assets. The $82.7B offer won unanimous board approval without raising the price.
- 3M ($MMM) -3.8%: Dropped despite posting higher Q4 profit, as margin improvement was overshadowed by persistent inflation pressures on consumer demand.
- DR Horton ($DHI) +2.6%: Gained after beating Q4 earnings expectations, even as net sales orders came in light. Management highlighted continued caution among homebuyers.
- Bank of America ($BAC) -1.4%: Slipped after announcing a roughly $1B equity award for employees excluding senior management, following a strong performance year.
- RAPT Therapeutics ($RAPT) +60%: Soared after GSK agreed to acquire the company for $2.2B, securing global rights to experimental food-allergy treatment ozureprubart.

- Newmont ($NEM), Hecla ($HL), Endeavour Silver ($EXK) — all higher
Precious-metal miners surged as gold broke above $4,700/oz for the first time and silver hovered near record territory, boosting sector sentiment.
- Applied Digital ($APLD) -5.6%: Fell after CEO Wes Cummins sold 165,000 shares, generating just over $6 million in proceeds.
- Logitech ($LOGI) and NetApp ($NTAP) — sharply lower
IT hardware names tumbled after Morgan Stanley downgraded its entire industry view, warning of deteriorating enterprise demand and rising component costs. Both stocks were cut to Underweight.
- Alcon ($ALC) -0.9%: Dipped despite a Deutsche Bank upgrade to Buy, with analysts expecting stronger growth and improving margins ahead.

 Market Overview — Tuesday, January 20, 2026 Futures Slide as Greenland Tariff Threat Sparks Global Market Turmoil

U.S. stock index futures fell sharply early Tuesday after President Donald Trump stunned global leaders with threats of sweeping new tariffs on Europe tied to his push for U.S. control of Greenland.

At 05:25 ET,

- Dow Futures -750 pts (-1.5%)
- S&P 500 Futures -110 pts (-1.6%)
- Nasdaq 100 Futures -495 pts (-1.9%)

The selloff hits after an already weak week for Wall Street, with all three major averages slipping before the long holiday weekend. With U.S. markets closed Monday for MLK Day, traders were immediately confronted with a geopolitical shockwave the moment futures reopened.

Greenland Standoff Triggers Tariff Panic

Over the weekend, Trump announced plans to impose 10% tariffs on multiple European countries beginning in early February, ramping up to 25% by July, unless Europe agrees to hand over control of Greenland.

The rhetoric escalated quickly:

- Trump threatened 200% tariffs on French wines and champagne
- Called Greenland “imperative for National and World Security”
- Confirmed he will discuss the issue with “various parties” at Davos this week

European leaders condemned the move and scheduled an emergency EU meeting on Thursday. Potential countermeasures under discussion include:

- tariffs on €93 billion worth of U.S. goods
- investment and banking restrictions
- even limits on U.S. economic access to the EU

Complicating matters further, the U.S. Supreme Court could rule this week on whether Trump’s broad tariff powers under the 1977 IEEPA emergency law are legal. Justices showed skepticism during hearings, and markets now anticipate a ruling against the administration. A decision could dramatically reshape the trade landscape.

 Netflix Kicks Off a Heavy Earnings Week

Earnings season picks up speed, with Netflix reporting after the bell.

Consensus expects:

- EPS: $0.55
- Revenue: $11.96B

But the real spotlight is on Netflix's aggressive bid for Warner Bros Discovery — a deal rivaled by a Paramount-Skydance offer and likely to trigger intense regulatory scrutiny on both sides of the Atlantic.

Later this week, earnings from some of America's biggest corporate bellwethers will shape sentiment:

- Johnson & Johnson
- 3M
- GE Aerospace
- Intel
- Procter & Gamble
- Abbott Laboratories

Analysts expect 12%-15% earnings growth for the S&P 500 — high expectations as investors digest mixed results from major banks last week.

 Treasury Yields Rise as Trade Fears Intensify

Bond markets reacted forcefully to the Greenland tariff threat.

- 10-year yield +6 bps → 4.287%
- 20-year +9 bps → 4.885%
- 30-year +9 bps → 4.93%

The upward spike reflects deepening fears of a full-blown U.S.-Europe trade confrontation — a scenario markets had largely written off entering 2026.

Gold Hits a New Record as Safe-Haven Demand Surges

Gold accelerated to a fresh all-time high as traders sought shelter from escalating global uncertainty.

- Spot gold +1.0% → $4,724.83/oz
- Gold futures +3.0% → $4,730.50/oz

The precious metal continues to be one of the strongest-performing assets amid geopolitical stress and shifting central bank expectations.

Oil Holds Steady After Volatile Moves

Crude traded quietly despite global turmoil, consolidating after sharp swings in the prior session.

- Brent +0.1% → $64.00
- WTI +0.1% → $59.40

Traders remain on alert, but energy markets have yet to fully price in the risk of a transatlantic trade war.

 Adam's Watchlist

- $QQQ: Looking to go long off the 611.78's KL for a push up into the 615's KL and potentially the 618.85's KL. If we break below, I'll be going short off the 610's KL for a push down into the 607's KL and potentially the 605.50's KL.
 - $NFLX: Looking to go short off the 90's KL for a push up into the 92.55's KL.
 - $AFRM: Looking to go short off the 70.40's KL for a push up into the 64.22's KL.
-

 COMMUNITY WATCHLIST

- $PLTR: Looking to go long off the 167.40's KL for a push up into the 172's KL.
 - $IONQ: Looking to go long off the 49's KL for a push up into the 50's KL and potentially the 51's KL.
 - $TSM: Looking to go long off the 345's KL for a push up into the 350's KL and potentially the 360's KL.
-