

PM Planning with Adam (01/21/2026)

News for Today

- U.S President Trump Speaks (8:30AM)
- Pending Home Sales (MoM) (Dec) Forecast (-0.3%) Previous (3.3%) (10:00AM)
- Atlanta Fed GDPNow (Q4) Forecast (5.3%) Previous (5.3%) (12:00PM)
- 20-Year Bond Auction Previous (4.798%) (1:00PM)
-  Netflix ($NFLX) — -7.4%: Slumped after issuing soft financial guidance and revealing declining viewership for non-branded licensed content. Added pressure comes from its aggressive bid for Warner Bros Discovery.
-  United Airlines ($UAL) — +3.5%: Beat quarterly profit estimates and guided higher for Q1 and FY2026, supported by strong demand from higher-income and corporate travelers.
-  Kraft Heinz ($KHC) — -5.8%: Dropped after filings indicated Berkshire Hathaway may sell its 27.5% stake, potentially ending a long-held investment.
-  Johnson & Johnson ($JNJ) — -1%: Guided 2026 profit and sales above expectations, but warned of “hundreds of millions” in hits from a new U.S. drug-pricing agreement.
-  Halliburton ($HAL) — +1.8%: Reported Q4 revenue and earnings above expectations, showing resilience despite a mixed oilfield environment.
-  Travelers ($TRV) — +0.2%: Posted a stronger-than-expected fourth quarter driven by firm underwriting and improved investment returns.

-  Truist Financial ($TFC) — -2.7%: Shares slipped despite a profit increase, as investors focused on margin pressure and cautious commentary around loan growth.
-  Teledyne Technologies ($TDY) — +4.9%: Beat earnings expectations on strong defense demand and improving commercial sales.
-  Ulta Beauty ($ULTA) — +1%: Upgraded to “strong buy” at Raymond James, citing a powerful FY26 growth setup following a heavy investment cycle.
-  Dollar Tree ($DLTR) — -1.9%: Downgraded to “underperform” at BNP Paribas, with analysts warning of margin pressure and limited upside.

Market Overview — Wednesday, January 21, 2026

U.S. Futures Steady as Markets Brace for Trump’s Davos Speech

U.S. stock index futures edged modestly higher early Wednesday, attempting to stabilize after Tuesday’s steep selloff driven by a dramatic escalation in U.S.-Europe trade tensions.

By 05:15 ET (10:15 GMT):

- Dow Futures +46 pts (+0.1%)
- S&P 500 Futures +13 pts (+0.2%)
- Nasdaq 100 Futures +35 pts (+0.1%)

Tuesday marked the worst session since October 10, with:

- Dow -1.8%
- S&P 500 -2.1%
- Nasdaq -2.4%

Treasury yields also surged, with the 10-year touching its highest level since August, reflecting growing fears of a transatlantic trade fight.

Trump Heads to Davos — Greenland Showdown in Focus

Attention now turns to President Donald Trump's high-profile appearance at the World Economic Forum in Davos. Markets are on edge as Trump continues to pressure European leaders to cede Greenland, threatening:

- 10% tariffs on eight European nations starting in February
- Rising to 25% by June if demands are not met

Although Trump struck a slightly softer tone Tuesday — saying he seeks a deal that will make NATO allies “very happy” — he has remained adamant that Greenland is essential to U.S. national security.

Analysts at ING noted there is room for “de-escalation” given Trump's face-to-face meetings with EU officials, historically the moments when tensions cool.

Still, the threat of fresh tariffs has injected a new wave of uncertainty across global markets already sensitive to geopolitical shocks.

Netflix Slides After Weak Guidance

Netflix reported quarterly results after Tuesday's close:

- Q4 numbers beat expectations
- But Q1 guidance disappointed, dragging shares sharply lower premarket
- Company highlighted declining viewership of non-branded licensed content
- Comes as Netflix chases a massive $72B+ bid for Warner Bros Discovery to bolster content dominance

The weak outlook overshadowed what was otherwise a stable earnings beat, fueling renewed concerns about competitive pressure and content costs.

On the upside, United Airlines surged premarket after topping profit expectations and raising its full-year outlook on strong premium-travel demand.

More earnings are due throughout the day from:

- Johnson & Johnson
- Halliburton
- Travelers

With Intel, GE Aerospace, Procter & Gamble, Abbott, and Intuitive Surgical on deck Thursday.

🏆 Gold Breaks Above $4,800 — Safe-Haven Rush Intensifies

Gold made fresh history Wednesday as traders fled risk following renewed tariff threats and geopolitical tension tied to Greenland.

- Spot gold hit $4,888.13/oz, a new all-time high
- Gold futures +2.1% to $4,866/oz

The combination of:

- escalating U.S.-Europe tensions
- uncertainty around Trump's Davos messaging
- rising Treasury yields
- fragile global sentiment

...has fueled a powerful safe-haven rotation into precious metals.

Oil Pulls Back as Growth Fears Build

Oil prices retreated sharply Wednesday, unwinding Tuesday's rebound as traders reassessed the demand outlook amid tariff threats.

- Brent -1.5%
- WTI -1.5%

Key drivers:

- fears of weakening global growth if a U.S.-EU trade war erupts
- anticipation of today's IEA monthly oil report
- U.S. crude & gasoline stockpile updates later in the week
- Kazakhstan's temporary supply disruption offered only brief support

Adam's Watchlist

- $QQQ: Looking to go long off the 610's KL for a push up into the 611.79's KL and potentially the 615's KL. If we break below, I'll be going short off the 605.50's KL for a push down into the 600's KL and potentially the 595's KL.
- $TSLA: Looking to go short off the 419.81's KL for a push up into the 425's KL.
- $OKLO: Looking to go short off the 96.50's KL for a push up into the 100's KL and potentially the 106's KL.
- $AFRM: Looking to go short off the 70.40's KL for a push down into the 64.22's KL.
- $IONQ: Looking to go long off the 51's KL for a push up into the 53's KL and potentially the 57's KL.

⚡ COMMUNITY WATCHLIST ⚡

- $SMR: Looking to go long off the 20.30's KL for a push up into the 22.80's KL.
 - $PG: Looking to go long off the 148.20's KL for a push up into the 151.12's KL.
 - $INTC: Looking to go long off the 50.30's KL for a push up into the 51.28's KL and potentially the 52's KL.
-