Market Overview — Thursday, February 12, 2026

U.S. Futures Edge Higher Ahead of CPI & Earnings

- Dow Futures  +155 pts (+0.3%)
- S&P 500 Futures  +19 pts (+0.3%)
- Nasdaq 100 Futures  +60 pts (+0.3%)

Futures bounced Thursday after Wednesday's pullback, with markets reacting to a strong jobs report and preparing for fresh earnings and Friday's CPI data.

Strong Jobs Report Pushes Back Fed Cut Bets

- Nonfarm payrolls: +130,000 (above expectations)
- Unemployment rate: 4.3% (ticked lower)

The solid headline number reinforced economic resilience but reduced near-term Fed rate cut expectations. Traders have scaled back easing bets:

- ~92% probability Fed holds rates in March
- ~79% probability Fed holds in April

However, downward revisions to prior data showed softer underlying trends outside leisure, healthcare, and government hiring.

Weekly jobless claims are due today, followed by Friday's CPI report, which will be critical for rate expectations.

Earnings Season Rolling On

Q4 earnings are now past the midpoint and generally solid, with double-digit growth trends holding up.

Pre-Market Focus

- QSR (Restaurant Brands International) – reporting before the open.

After the Close

- $ANET (Arista Networks)
- $AMAT (Applied Materials)

Recent Movers

- $CSCO (Cisco Systems)  After posting weaker-than-expected gross margins, pressured by higher memory chip costs tied to AI data-center demand.
- $MCD (McDonald's)  Beat Q4 global comps and profit estimates, driven by U.S. meal deals and steady international demand.

Gold & Oil Ease Slightly

- Gold  Modest pullback after dollar bounce post-jobs report.
- Silver  Also lower but holding weekly gains.
- Brent crude  $69.07 (-0.4%)
- WTI crude  $64.38 (-0.4%)

Oil remains supported by geopolitical tensions between the U.S. and Iran, with reports suggesting Washington may deploy a second aircraft carrier to the region.
