

PM Planning with Adam (03/02/2026)

News for Today

- S&P Global Manufacturing PMI (Feb) Forecast (51.2) Previous (52.4) (9:45AM)
- ISM Manufacturing PMI (Feb) Forecast (51.7) Previous (52.6) (10:00AM)
- ISM Manufacturing Prices (Feb) Forecast (60.6) Previous (59.0) (10:00AM)
- Atlanta Fed GDPNow (Q1) Forecast (3.0%) Previous (3.0%) (11:30AM)
- $BRKb (Berkshire Hathaway) —  -1.3%: Slipped after reporting a nearly 30% drop in Q4 operating profit, dragged down by weaker insurance underwriting results.
- $PSKY (Paramount Skydance) —  +5.2%: Jumped after entering a definitive merger agreement with WBD, moving forward in the media consolidation battle.
- $WBD (Warner Bros Discovery) —  (Post-merger announcement focus) Filed a joint statement confirming the merger agreement with Paramount Skydance.
- $AMZN (Amazon) —  -2.4%: Fell after AWS reported a disruption in the UAE caused by unidentified objects striking a data center, leading to fire damage and power outages.
- $NCLH (Norwegian Cruise Line) —  -7%: Dropped after forecasting annual profit below expectations, citing higher costs despite strong booking demand.
- $XOM (Exxon Mobil) —  +4.7%: Surged as crude prices spiked following escalation in the Middle East.
- $CVX (Chevron) —  +3.9%: Climbed alongside oil prices amid geopolitical tensions.

- $LMT (Lockheed Martin) — 🚀 +5.4%: Jumped as defense stocks rallied after U.S.-Israel strikes on Iran.
 - $HMY (Harmony Gold Mining) — 🟢 +1.6%: Rose as gold prices surged on safe-haven demand.
 - $AAL (American Airlines) — 🔴 -4%+ $DAL (Delta Air Lines) — 🔴 -4%+ $UAL (United Airlines) — 🔴 -4%+: Airline stocks fell sharply as military operations disrupted regional flights.
 - $QURE (Uniqure) — 🔴 -37%: Collapsed after the FDA rejected its proposed approval pathway for an investigational Huntington's disease gene therapy.
-

Market Overview — Monday, March 02, 2026

War Shock Hits Global Markets

U.S. stock futures are plunging to start the week after coordinated U.S.-Israel airstrikes on Iran dramatically escalated tensions in the Middle East, triggering a broad flight from risk.

As of early trade:

- Dow futures: -733 points (-1.5%)
- S&P 500 futures: -1.5%
- Nasdaq 100 futures: -1.9%

The strikes reportedly targeted multiple Iranian sites and killed high-ranking officials, including Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei. Tehran has retaliated across the region, with reports of U.S. casualties and expanding cross-border strikes involving Hezbollah.

Markets are now pricing in the risk of a prolonged regional conflict — and potentially deeper U.S. involvement.

Oil Explodes Higher

Energy markets reacted immediately.

- Brent crude: +10% to ~$80
- WTI crude: +9% to ~$73

The surge reflects fears Iran could attempt to disrupt or close the Strait of Hormuz, a chokepoint that handles roughly 20% of global oil flows and a significant share of LNG shipments.

Even without a formal blockade, tanker congestion and insurance concerns are already impacting traffic through the region.

A sustained spike in oil would complicate the global inflation outlook, potentially delaying central bank easing and squeezing consumers through higher gasoline and energy prices.

That said, analysts note that oil prices remain within historical ranges — and OPEC+ has signaled modest output increases next month, which may cushion some supply pressure if the conflict does not escalate further.

Gold Surges on Safe-Haven Rush

Gold is rallying sharply as investors seek safety.

- Spot gold: +2.3% to ~$5,402
- Gold futures: +3.3%

Rising geopolitical risk, higher oil prices, and renewed inflation fears are driving safe-haven flows. If the conflict expands regionally or disrupts energy infrastructure more materially, gold could remain bid.

Asia Slides on War + AI Jitters

Asian markets fell hard overnight.

- Hang Seng: -2.1%
- Nikkei 225: -1.4%

Beyond geopolitical risk, tech shares remain under pressure as investors continue reassessing the longer-term implications of artificial intelligence on software and data companies. February has already been rough for software names globally.

Berkshire Earnings Add to Unease

Berkshire Hathaway reported a nearly 30% drop in fourth-quarter operating profit, weighed down by weaker insurance underwriting and investment income.

The company also recorded impairment charges tied to investments in Kraft Heinz and Occidental Petroleum.

This marked Warren Buffett's final quarter as CEO, with successor Greg Abel acknowledging he has "a hard act to follow."

 Adam's Watchlist

- $QQQ: Looking to go long off the 600's KL for a push up into the 602.22's KL and potentially the 604's KL. If we break below, I'll be going short off the 596.36's KL for a push down into the 590.19's KL.
 - $NVDA: Looking to go long off the 176.13's KL for a push up into the 179.08's KL and potentially the 182.60's KL.
 - $COHR: Looking to go long off the 276.50's KL for a push up into the 280's KL and potentially the 287.50's KL.
 - $AMZN: Looking to go long off the 206.06's KL for a push up into the 208.50's KL and potentially the 210.23's KL.
 - $NTLA: Looking to go long off the 14.80's KL for a push up into the 16.75's KL.
 - $OXY: Looking to go long off the 57's KL for a push up into the 60's KL.
-

 COMMUNITY WATCHLIST

- $GLW: Looking to go long off the 154's KL for a push up into the 162.10's KL.
 - $PLTR: Looking to go long off the 143's KL for a push up into the 145's KL and potentially the 151's KL.
 - $NFLX: Looking to go long off the 95's KL for a push up into the 97.45's KL and potentially the 100's KL.
-