U.S. Futures Edge Higher Ahead of Fed Decision and Big Tech Earnings

U.S. stock futures are slightly higher Wednesday morning as markets brace for one of the most important trading days of the year, packed with major earnings and a key Fed decision.

- Dow futures: flat
- S&P 500 futures: +5 pts (+0.1%)
- Nasdaq futures: +92 pts (+0.3%)

The move follows a weaker session Tuesday, where markets pulled back amid AI concerns and ongoing geopolitical uncertainty.

Markets face “perfect storm” of catalysts

Investors are navigating multiple major themes all at once:

- Fed decision later today
- Mega-cap tech earnings after the close
- Ongoing U.S.-Iran tensions
- Continued pressure on the AI trade

👉 This is a high-impact day that could set the tone for the next move in markets.

AI concerns still weighing on tech

Markets are still reacting to recent concerns around OpenAI after reports showed weaker growth and revenue trends.

This has pressured sentiment around AI-linked stocks, which have been a major driver of the rally.

👉 Today's earnings from major tech names will act as a key test for whether the AI trade can hold up.

Iran tensions + oil remain a key risk

U.S.-Iran negotiations remain stalled, with reports pointing to a potential extended blockade of Iranian ports.

The Strait of Hormuz is still largely shut, keeping pressure on global oil supply.

- Oil prices: above $100

👉 Impact:

- Inflation risk rising
 - Growth concerns building

💰 Earnings still holding strong

Despite geopolitical pressure, earnings continue to come in solid:

- ~81% of companies reporting have beaten expectations
 - Corporate profits remain resilient

🔥 Big Tech spotlight (TONIGHT)

All eyes are on AI hyperscalers reporting after the close:

- Alphabet
- Microsoft
- Amazon
- Meta

👉 These results = major market mover

Fed decision today

The Federal Reserve is expected to:

- Keep rates unchanged (3.5%–3.75%)

Focus will be on:

- Forward guidance
- Inflation outlook
- Tone (hawkish vs dovish)

👉 Potential shift:

Fed may lean more hawkish, especially with rising oil prices

Breakdown: what's driving the market now?

- Fed decision = major catalyst
- Big Tech earnings = critical test
- AI concerns still lingering
- Oil + Iran tensions = macro risk

👉 Market = waiting for direction

What traders are watching today

- Fed announcement + Powell speech
 - Big Tech earnings after close
 - Reaction in AI stocks
 - Oil price movement
