- FOMC Member Williams Speaks (9:00AM)
- 5-Year Note Auction Previous (3.995%) (12:00PM)
- FOMC Meeting Minutes (2:00PM)
- Macy's ($M) stock rose 1.3% after the department store chain posted stronger-than-expected first-quarter results, although it lowered its full-year 2025 outlook due to the impact of tariffs, weaker consumer discretionary spending, and heavier promotional activity.
- Dick's Sporting Goods ($DKS) stock rose 1.3% following a solid first-quarter earnings report that showed record sales and strong comparable store growth. The company also reaffirmed its full-year 2025 guidance.
- Capri Holdings ($CPRI) stock fell 1.7% after the luxury fashion company reported a wider-than-expected fourth-quarter loss, with revenue declining more than analysts anticipated.
- Okta ($OKTA) stock sank 9.5% in premarket trading as cautious guidance and macroeconomic concerns spooked investors despite a relatively stable earnings report.
- Box ($BOX) stock jumped 10% after the cloud storage firm beat expectations for both earnings and revenue in its fiscal first quarter and issued upbeat guidance for Q2 and the full year.

- Vail Resorts ($MTN) stock surged 11% as the company announced a leadership change, with Rob Katz returning to the CEO role and replacing Kirsten Lynch, who resigned as CEO and board director.
 - Stellantis ($STLA) stock fell 1% after the automaker appointed Antonio Filosa, current North American chief, as CEO effective June 23, raising some investor uncertainty.
 - Global Payments ($GPN) stock rose 1% after the company announced the $1.1 billion sale of its payroll division to fintech firm Acrisure, as part of its strategic simplification plan.
